

Human Resources Management Post Diploma

Program Overview

The Post Diploma in Human Resources Management is a two-year program that provides students with an in-depth understanding of human resources management topics to become supervisors, managers and human resource professionals.

This program includes a capstone project or management practicum in the final semester of study. In both options, students will be able to apply and synthesize theoretical concepts learned during the previous coursework. The courses for this program are spread over four semesters allowing students a manageable course load.

This program is designed for those interested in careers in the following:

- Employee Selection, Recruitment and Retention
- Labour Relations and Workplace Conflict Resolution
- Employment Law
- Compensation and Benefits
- Employee Training and Development

CNC's Post-Diploma in Human Resources Management is accredited with the Chartered Professionals in Human Resources – British Columbia & Yukon (CPHR-BC and Yukon). Program graduates who meet the requirements are eligible to waive writing the National Knowledge Exam® moving them one step closer to receiving their CPHR designation.

For more information and requirements on the CPHR designation please see: <https://cphr.ca>
