

From Broadaxe to Clay Chinking Chapter 10: The Beaverley District

Ernestine and Gustave Hiller with sons, Daniel (standing) & Albert 1901

Courtesy of Joan Banzer and Shirley Gratton

From Broadaxe to Clay Chinking Chapter 10: The Beaverley District

The Hillers

Bill, Mr Hiller with Minnie and Martha, Mrs Hiller holding Bennie, and Robert. Prince George 1917

Courtesy of Shirley Gratton

From Broadaxe to Clay Chinking
Chapter 10: The Beaverley District

Gustave Hiller's chicken house. Ben Hiller later used the loft as a shop to do his woodwork

From Broadaxe to Clay Chinking
Chapter 10: The Beaverley District

Gustave Hiller's pig barn

From Broadaxe to Clay Chinking
Chapter 10: The Beaverley District

Gustave Hiller's hay shed

From Broadaxe to Clay Chinking
Chapter 10: The Beaverley District

Barn at Teichmanns, possibly built by Dagey

From Broadaxe to Clay Chinking Chapter 10: The Beaverley District

Teichmann family

Left to right: Paul, Ted, Marion, Carl, Gertrude, Otto. Mr Teichman sitting down. Inset: Mrs Teichmann

Courtesy Jean Teichmann

From Broadaxe to Clay Chinking Chapter 10: The Beaverley District

Wedding of Bill Hiller and Marjorie Giles (sitting). Standing is Wally
Kienzle and Minnie Hiller - Courtesy of Shirley Gratton

From Broadaxe to Clay Chinking Chapter 10: The Beaverley District

Barn built across the road by Gustave and Bill Hiller. 1931

From Broadaxe to Clay Chinking
Chapter 10: The Beaverley District

Beaverley School

Courtesy of Myrtle and Jerome Jarvis

From Broadaxe to Clay Chinking Chapter 10: The Beaverley District

Letricia Clarke and sister Olive Clarke who was the first teacher at Beaverley School - Courtesy of Clarke Henderson

From Broadaxe to Clay Chinking
Chapter 10: The Beaverley District

Remains of Beaverley School built in 1918

From Broadaxe to Clay Chinking
Chapter 10: The Beaverley District

Remains of the Muralt house

From Broadaxe to Clay Chinking
Chapter 10: The Beaverley District

May, Mrs Muralt, Rose, Mr Muralt and Myrtle

Courtesy of Myrtle Jarvis

From Broadaxe to Clay Chinking Chapter 10: The Beaverley District

The Muralt family

Left to right: Myrtle, May, Rose, Eddie, Adina, Otto, Lloyd, Julia Muralt (mother) and Emma
In front is Art Muralt. Missing are John and Walter - Courtesy of Myrtle and Jerome Jarvis

From Broadaxe to Clay Chinking Chapter 10: The Beaverley District

Sofia and Karl Kienzle with boys Alphonso and Willie. 1918

Courtesy of Anne Kienzle

From Broadaxe to Clay Chinking Chapter 10: The Beaverley District

A large outdoor haystack made by using a hay fork, on the Kienzle farm

Courtesy of Anne Kienzle

From Broadaxe to Clay Chinking Chapter 10: The Beaverley District

Cutting grain with a binder and making stooks

Courtesy of Anne Kienzle

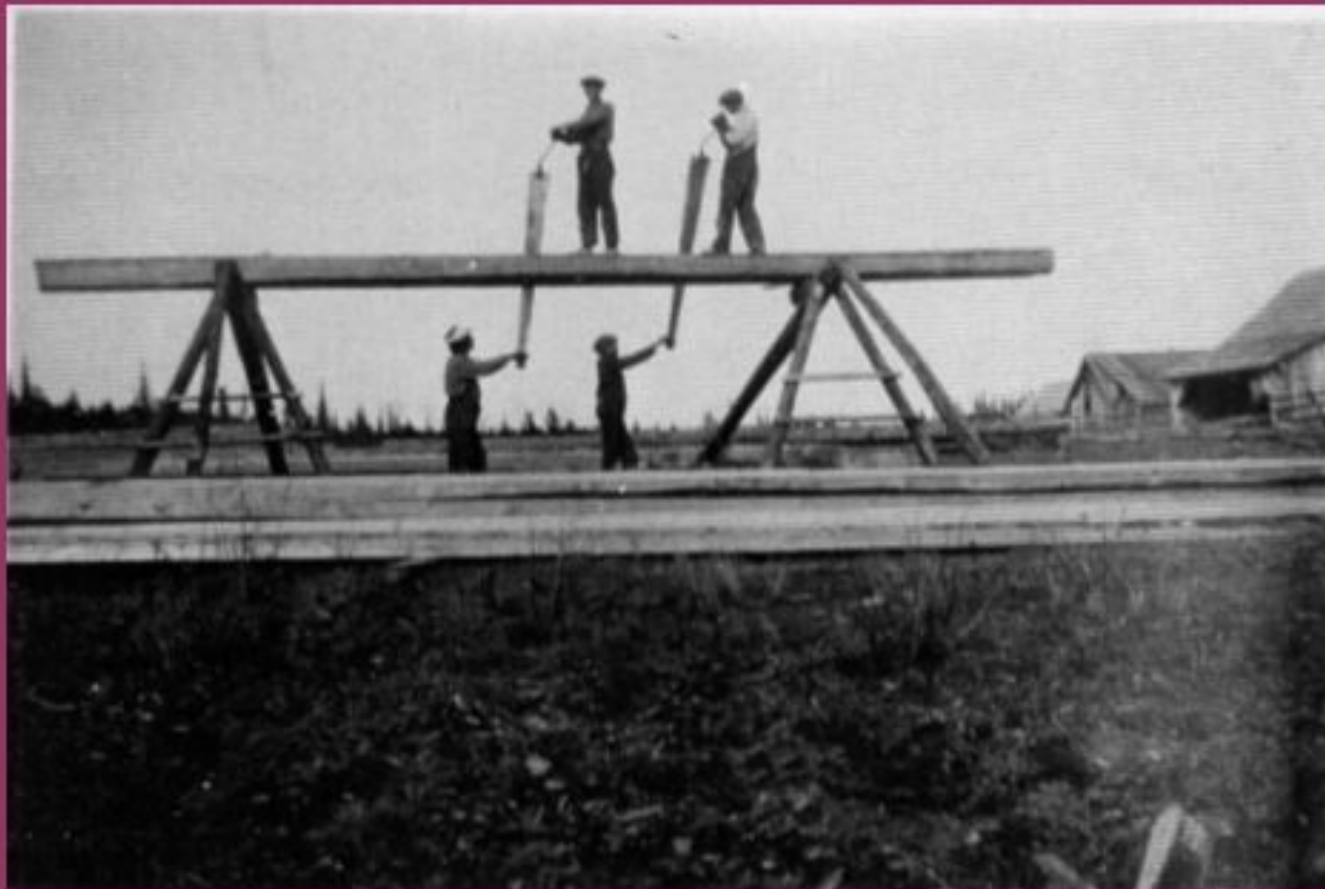

From Broadaxe to Clay Chinking Chapter 10: The Beaverley District

Cutting hay with a mower on the Kienzle farm. Notice “bunches” or hay “coils” in background

Courtesy of Anne Kienzle

From Broadaxe to Clay Chinking Chapter 10: The Beaverley District

Sawing planks from a log using a whip-saw

Courtesy of Anne Kienzie

From Broadaxe to Clay Chinking Chapter 10: The Beaverley District

Cutting ice from the creek for the ice house on the Kienzle farm

Courtesy of Anne Kienzle

From Broadaxe to Clay Chinking
Chapter 10: The Beaverley District

This building used to be the ice house on the Kienzle farm

From Broadaxe to Clay Chinking
Chapter 10: The Beaverley District

The house that was built by Gessicus

From Broadaxe to Clay Chinking Chapter 10: The Beaverley District

Martin Henderson and son Clarke

Courtesy of Clarke Henderson

Olive Henderson and son Clarke

Courtesy of Clarke Henderson

From Broadaxe to Clay Chinking Chapter 10: The Beaverley District

Jack Henderson, son of Martin and Olive

Courtesy of Clarke Henderson

From Broadaxe to Clay Chinking
Chapter 10: The Beaverley District

Henderson house built in 1918

From Broadaxe to Clay Chinking
Chapter 10: The Beaverley District

Henderson tractor and car shed

From Broadaxe to Clay Chinking
Chapter 10: The Beaverley District

Henderson milk shed

From Broadaxe to Clay Chinking Chapter 10: The Beaverley District

Mary and John Henderson, Clarke's grandparents

Courtesy of Clarke Henderson

Clarke Henderson and wife Edith

Courtesy of Clarke Henderson

From Broadaxe to Clay Chinking
Chapter 10: The Beaverley District

Haldi's cabin

From Broadaxe to Clay Chinking Chapter 10: The Beaverley District

Beaverley Sunday School gathering or picnic

Courtesy of Elizabeth Sinclair